Thursday 19 September 6:00 – 8:00 pm AEST

We know we're in the midst of massive global social upheaval. Our VUCA world is becoming more Volatile, more Uncertain, more Complex and more Ambiguous.

The pandemic accelerated trends that were predicted but many were not prepared. What trends, and possible scenarios are Futurists and forward thinkers attempting to understand?

In the late 1990's and early 2000's consultants and managers touted the need for a "paradigm shift". The term became so ubiquitous that it lost its meaning, but it's time to revisit this important concept. There needs to be a fundamental shift in thinking and ways of seeing things.

Our old ways of thinking will not serve us in the future. In this interactive webinar we will be exploring the following questions:

- What are some possible and likely organisational, social, political and environmental scenarios – global and local?
- How might these play out in the world of work over the next decade?
- What are you already noticing as a leader, facilitator or coach?
- What do these potential scenarios mean for you? How might they impact your practice?
- How are you preparing yourself in thought and action for possible futures?

Bob Dick BA (Hons. Psych.), MA (Psych)

Bob is a venerable figure in facilitation circles across Australasia with an excellent reputation as facilitator, mentor, change agent, and action researcher for half a century. He continues to refine his practice, informed by experience and extensive reading and study. In the last two decades this has included awareness of our species' long history and its likely future. Applying this, he helps people and especially facilitators anticipate likely developments. To respond to the increasingly volatile world, it is necessary to do so. Bob attends to his own development in this work. He is an active member of a small community of practice that meets fortnightly to examine likely future trends.

Illuma welcomes Bob Dick to the first of our Conversations with The Masters series. Don't miss this!
